

Concept Question 11-2: What factors determine how strong or weak the magnetic coupling is between two coils?

The magnetic coupling between two coils depends on their physical shapes, orientations relative to one another, spacing between them, and the magnetic permeability μ of the medium between them.